

Seeing his younger brother cry made Leo feel bad for him. "It's ok, Todd," he said.

"What? Really?" Todd asked as he wiped away his tears.

"Yes, really," Leo sighed. "Maybe I can fix it. I forgive you."

"Oh, Leo! You're the best!" said Todd happily. "And I am really, really sorry I didn't listen to you." Just then the doorbell rang. He heard his mother call him downstairs, because his friends had come over.